2005 EFL CONVENTION SPARKS SUPERLATIVES

If anyone attending this year's 11th Annual Official Electric Football Super Bowl & Convention thought they heard more of a buzz at this year's event at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Pittsburgh than in events past, they were right!

According to convention coordinator Ira H. Silverman of Silverman Media&Marketing Group, about 400% more tournament games were played on the opening day of the 2005 EFL Super Bowl Convention than at any Convention beforehand—thus giving rise to more buzzing, as well as more cheering, elation, excitement and disappointment than on any previous Saturday at a Miggle EFL Convention.

Yes, after a decade that saw the Miggle Super Bowl tournament grow from a four or five coach event in its infancy to a huge single elimination competition, Delayne and Michael Landsman decided last summer to give the coaches what they were really clamoring for at the Miggle Convention—a format that allowed them to play far more games against many more opponents.

The plan that the Landsmans and a special Tournament Organizing Committee comprised of Ron Bell, Aaron Johnson, Frank Johnson and Mark Klingbeil came up with was instantly applauded by all—a Round-Robin format in which the field was seeded into four eight-coach divisions that were then divided into the Dirk Thomas and Doc Smeby Conferences, with each coach playing every other coach in that division once.

From there, the four division winners in each Conference met in semifinal and Conference Championship games, with the two Conference winners going head to head in the Super Bowl of Electric Football 11 on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 30, 2005.

NORBERT REVELS SHOCKS EFL WORLD WITH 2005 SUPER BOWL WIN

Norbert Revels (Hamtramick, MI, Great Lakes EFL), making his first-ever appearance at Miggle's Official Super Bowl Weekend (held this year at the Embassy Suites Pittsburgh/International Airport Hotel), powered through the most difficult, challenging and grueling tournament format yet to earn the prestigious Miggle Trophy as champion of Miggle's Super Bowl of Electric Football 11.

To get to the Super Bowl game, Coach Revels, a 40-year-old butcher, had to defeat seven opponents in a round-robin competition, then Brian Perry (River Rouge, MI, Detroit EFL), 20-0, in his Conference semi-final; three-time Miggle Super Bowl Champion Ron Bell (New Orleans, LA, New Orleans EFL), 24-6, in his Conference title game; and finally two-time Miggle EFL Super Bowl defending champion Edgar Downs (Gary, IN, Midwest EFL) in the title tilt.

The festive Super Bowl Pre-Game Show began with a heartfelt rendition of The Star Spangled Banner by guest vocalist Carolyn Niederlander, followed by introductions of the opposing Coaches by Convention MC Ira H. Silverman. The microphone was then turned over to the incomparable "broadcasting team" of Ken "Sir Talkalot" Allen and "Let Me Be Frank With You" Johnson, who again handled play-by-play and commentary duties, respectively, in a flawless manner.

A LETTER FROM THE COMMISSIONER

Michael Landsman

Commissioner

Welcome to the Spring 2005 issue of PLUGGED IN! Let me say right from the Opening Kickoff that if you didn't attend the 11th Annual Official Electric Football Super Bowl & Convention this past January, you missed the most ACTION PACKED, FUN and EXCITING Convention to date!

Pittsburgh was a great city to visit, and an Embassy Suites hotel was again the ideal place to serve as Convention headquarters because it presented such a terrific family-friendly ambiance. But what made the entire Convention so special was the new format that Miggle added this year to the Super Bowl tournament as a result of requests that came in from so many of you, our loyal customers and friends!

You asked for more opportunities to play other coaches from all over the country within the context of our Super Bowl competition. So, with that charge in mind, my wife, Delayne, along with our public relations/special events consultant Ira H. Silverman of Silverman Media&Marketing Group and a Panel of Expert Coaches including Ron Bell, Aaron Johnson, Frank Johnson and Mark Klingbeil, developed a system that featured a Round-Robin format in which each coach had an opportunity to play at least seven other coaches from around the U.S. on Day One of the Convention.

Were attendees happy? Just check some of the comments we received in the Convention article that begins on Page 1 of this newsletter!

As always, Delayne and I had a great time in Pittsburgh with our Electric Football Family, seeing many old friends and making dozens of new ones. That's why the Annual Friday Night Reception & Dinner, followed by the Convention, are just two ways we try to "give back" to the EFL community every year for all your support and patronage.

These past 12 months have been terrific in terms of Miggle introducing several really great new products, some of which actually resulted from ideas offered by many of you in our EF Community. I am very grateful for your input, and want to thank all of you who worked with us.

It is unfortunate, however, that because we at Miggle had a full plate this year, we sometimes failed to deliver some items when promised. This scenario is not our way of doing business, and I want to personally apologize to those of you who were disappointed, as well as to the coaches who are still waiting for some of their products to be shipped. As you know, our policy at Miggle is that all of our new games and accessories are completely tested before their release and, due to pre-production difficulties and communications issues (as well as holiday observances), it has just taken far longer than we ever anticipated to get some of our new products to you.

We know many of you are waiting for our new #620 game board, but after releasing a few of them at the end of January, we discovered that we needed to make a couple of adjustments—which have now been completed. Our new delivery date will be the end of April. We thank you for your patience, and just know that these new #620 game boards are really awesome!

EFL coaches and fans were first introduced to the remarkable Doc Smeby in the Spring 1997 issue of PLUGGED IN!, shortly after he traveled from England to Chicago to attend the 3rd Annual Miggle EFL Convention. We devoted space in both the Spring and Fall 1997 issues of our Newsletter to Doc, describing him as "a long-time Electric Football fan who currently is head coach of the Irish National American Football Team."

On June 23 of that year, Doc was inducted into the Minor Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, in recognition of his "tremendous work in international football over the years."

The next seven years saw Doc spread his knowledge of American football to additional areas of Europe while, at the same time, remain a staunch supporter of Electric Football as both a teaching tool for his neophyte players and as a hobby and pastime in his personal life.

Kurt "Doc" Smeby

The entire EFL Community lost a great friend, colleague, advisor, mentor and calming and unifying influence recently when news came from overseas that Kurt "Doc" Smeby had passed away from diabetes-related complications.

Following an e-mail correspondence from Doc's wife with the sad news, the chatboard on the Miggle Toys website was filled with posts from coaches all over the country who wanted to share their memories and reflections of a man who dedicated his life to sharing his love for the game of football with adults and youth all over the globe.

In the arena of "Coming Attractions:" while Electric Football is still growing in the US and in many other countries around the world, we all know that the word "football" means soccer everywhere around the globe except here and in Canada. So in order to recognize the popularity of the sport, Miggle will soon be introducing a new International Electric Soccer Game that will be ready to ship beginning this September. Be on the lookout for it!

Before closing, I would like to take this opportunity to wish all of you and all of our brave and vigilant troops around the world a safe and healthy year, and to always keep that "buzz" going.

See you soon over the Electric Gridiron!

GETTING CONNECTED WITH...MEL BLOUNT

Mel Blount

On the website of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, it says about this month's interview subject, a 1989 Hall of Fame inductee: "Mel Blount was the prototype cornerback of his era and a major reason why the Steelers were the dominant team of the National Football League in the 1970s."

While the bio does acknowledge his "ideal size, speed and quickness, plus his toughness and mental ability," it fails to mention that what really sets Mel Blount apart from his peers is his heart.

The heart of a champion led to his playing 14 seasons in the NFL, all with the Pittsburgh Steelers (missing only one game along the way), being named the league's Defensive MVP in 1975, earning All-Pro honors four times and being chosen for five Pro Bowl Games. He also intercepted 57 passes, recovered 13 opponent fumbles and was a leader on four Steelers Super Bowl Championship teams.

But it's Mel Blount's heart away from the football field that makes him a superstar today. At the same time as he was stepping into the Hall of Fame in Canton, OH, he also was launching the Mel Blount Youth Center in Washington County, PA, a 300 acre facility that provides short-term emergency shelter, as well as long-term residential placement, for young at-risk men.

Mel Blount took some time out recently between meetings and planning a major fundraising event to talk with PLUGGED IN! about Electric Football, youngsters and his Youth Home. Here are highlights of that conversation:

Plugged In!: I understand you did not have access to Electric Football when you were growing up. Tell us about that.

Mel Blount: I was born in 1948, and if you're a history buff you are familiar with the plight of black people in America at that time. We didn't have running water, indoor plumbing or electricity. It wasn't until 1967, when I came home from college, that we got our first indoor toilet. We didn't have the things that most kids have today, but now, when I'm older and look back at those days, I realize we had a beautiful life.

PI!: Can you tell us about some of the things you are teaching the youngsters who are part of your Youth Home program?

MB: The reason I set up our program on a farm is because I wanted kids to have a strong work ethic. I wanted them to understand that work doesn't hurt you. It teaches you values, helps you with morals, gives you good self-esteem and teaches you to respect life. Today, the kids learn quickly to understand that life is precious and you've got to respect it and cherish it.

PI!: We all know that Electric Football is the type of game that is much more sociable and hands-on than more technologically designed games. What are your thoughts about Electric Football in today's society?

MB: I think the beauty of Electric Football games is that there is a lot of interaction for kids and their parents or their grandparents—or it could be their aunt or uncle or their siblings. I think it's good that Electric Football has a human element involved, whereas when you have a computer game, you're just dealing with the computer and a mouse. So I think it's something that is really an advantage for families who are trying to get everyone to do things together.

PI!: What kinds of lessons can you teach kids about life from games like Electric Football?

MB: I think we want to teach kids that they should try as hard as they can when playing any sport or game, but they must understand that they are not going to win every time. If you can learn something positive while you're competing—even if it is something you learn in a game that you lose—then you're a better person for it. Something that concerns me right now, however, is that there is so much individualism in sports today. So I would like to teach kids that you have to work together...that it's not about me, it's about the team, what's best for the team and what's best for everybody.

PI!: How do you plan to use the six Electric Football Games that Miggle Toys donated to your Youth Home at the Convention this January?

MB: We're holding them for the summer, as we want the boys to learn how to play the game properly before we just put the boards out. The Pittsburgh Electric Football League has volunteered to come down to the facility and give the kids a clinic so they can learn the right way to play the game right from the start. It should be a great time for them!

PI!: What message would you like to leave us with today?

MB: I invite all PLUGGED IN! readers to visit our website at www.melblount.com. We also want people to know that we are working to build better lives for young people by building character and developing young people into productive citizens. We welcome everyone to visit us at the Mel Blount Youth Center when they are in western Pennsylvania and to support us in any ways they wish. ■

HOT WIRES!

Loss of a Friend

In addition to the passing of Kurt "Doc" Smeby (see story on page 2 of this issue), the EFL world lost another popular coach since the publication of the Fall 2004 issue of PLUGGED IN!

David Bradley Fox, one of the original coaches of the Philadelphia EFL in 1997, passed away on Nov. 16, 2004, after living his entire life in Philadelphia. His days always seemed to be enveloped with "giving," and he was clearly well respected for his honesty and loyalty and for being a person who truly knew the meaning of friendship and family.

A graduate of Temple University, David was recently employed by the Defenders Association of Philadelphia as a child advocate social worker.

Fellow Philly EFLer Myron Evans told PLUGGED IN! that David coached in the PEFL through the 1999 season, then continued his EF career with the NEFL (2000-2003), which holds its season during the spring.

"Coach Fox was always trying to upgrade the strength of his team through trades," Evans recalled, "and was known for his strong offensive and defensive lines. Continually making his presence felt with his support for Philadelphia EF, Coach Fox was best known for his resonating voice and his signature bushy mustache."

ELECTRIC FOOTBALL FOR LIFE: MIKE PRATT, FIRST-EVER EFL GOOD VIBRATIONS AWARD RECIPIENT

From time to time, the efforts, accomplishments and contributions of people involved with Electric Football are overlooked; their dedication and commitment go unnoticed...and certainly go unrewarded.

But this year, Michael and Delayne Landsman of Miggle Toys decided to solve this dilemma by establishing a special "Good Vibrations" Lifetime Achievement Award to recognize (as merited) individuals who have dedicated a significant portion of their lives to not just playing Electric Football, but more importantly to sharing, growing, teaching and promoting the hobby.

The "Good Vibrations" Award was unveiled at the Welcome Reception & Dinner to kick-off the 2005 Miggle Convention in Pittsburgh—and the first-ever winner was Mike Pratt of Hollidaysburg, PA.

"Electric Football is not just a pastime for Mike," noted the Landsmans in presenting the beautiful trophy. "The love he has for this game and his fellow coaches is immense; the EFL has obviously become a part of his everyday routine. And for that, along with his many, many contributions to the EFL community, we wanted to single him out to receive our inaugural Good Vibrations Award."

When not involved in one Electric Football activity or another, Mike, 43, is pursuing his own business in custom computers that he builds and repairs. He obviously has a very patient and understanding family, which includes his wife, Melanie, son Joseph, 22, and stepson Sean, 15.

Mike spends at least an hour a day active with the hobby.

"Most of my involvement with Electric Football is not actual playing time," Mike told PLUGGED IN! "It's spent tweaking and testing bases and boards, dealing with rules and equipment issues and answering questions by phone and email from other coaches."

Mike's passion for Electric Football began around 1969, when he was seven years old. Although the initial moment is fuzzy, he recalls seeing numerous store advertisements for the product, as well as the game on the shelves of local department stores. As a huge NFL fan as a child, the idea that miniature players representing NFL teams could physically move on a field in front of him was thrilling to both his eyes and his imagination. As the years went on, and his Christmas and birthday lists grew with requests for EF sets and items, so did his fascination with the game.

Throughout his involvement with Electric Football, Mike has assisted in countless efforts to promote the game. Of high priority was the establishment of a National EF League in 2004.

Another initiative in which Mike had a prominent role this past season, along with Mark and Bill Klingbeil, was assisting Miggle in their quest for better bases. "Their market niche is unique in the respect that they have a lot of customers who just open the game, assemble it and begin playing," remarked Mike. "But they also have the hobby enthusiasts who are always going to push the performance limits of bases when they take them out of the box or bag."

"Miggle is to be congratulated and praised for their willingness to listen to those in the hobby who can offer them solutions for product improvement," applauded Mike. "To advise them on how to improve their products is the least we can do."

Always humble, always self-effacing, always helpful, always knowledgeable. Those are the qualities that have attracted a league full of friends throughout the Electric Football community to Mike Pratt. And those are some of the same traits that earned him the initial Miggle "Good Vibrations" Award earlier this year.

2005 EFL CONVENTION SPARKS SUPERLATIVES

The weekend obviously was a huge hit from the opening Welcome Reception & Dinner, hosted by Miggle Toys, on Friday night to the closing Miggle Trophy presentation to the Super Bowl 11 Champion on Sunday afternoon. But let's give some of the attendees the opportunity to share their reactions to the weekend:

"This was the best Convention ever. The venue, tournament set-up and fraternity atmosphere made for a very enjoyable experience."—Mathew Culp, Logansport, IN

"Miggle has arrived with a tournament format that makes it worth traveling seven hours for. I spent almost all of my Christmas money at the Convention, and I plan to do so again next year!"—Matt Wavra, Kokomo, MI

"I had a fantastic time. The Landsmans were gracious hosts and the new format was a work of genius for the large number of people to play in a short amount time. My hat is off to you, Ira, and all the work you did. Looking forward to being at the next event."—Will Travers, Washington, DC

"The Miggle Convention is to me a Football Family Reunion."—David Redmond, Jr., Decatur, GA

"With the new tournament format, the 2005 Miggle Convention raised the bar for competitive play. It was an honor being a part of the Tournament Committee."—Aaron Johnson, Columbus, OH

"Miggle certainly did its homework by selecting an outstanding football city in Pittsburgh. It was great to be a part of the yearly Electric Football Reunion and meet and compete against so many fine coaches."—Ray Fanara, Brookeville, MD

"This was the best Convention I have attended. I met a lot of new players and saw my old friends. Scrimmaging and shopping are my two favorite pastimes at these Conventions. The new 620 Board looks awesome, and Miggle has some other great products."—Fran "Coach Holtz," Jacksonville, FL.

"Michael and I greatly appreciate all of the thanks and congratulations from the coaches and families who attended our Convention this year," stated Delayne Landsman. "We, too, think it was the best yet, but just wait until 2006 when we present the brand new Miggle Championship Ring to the Super Bowl winner!" ■ creativity and patience. He added a two-point conversion, and the 8-0 score stood up at half-time.

The second half was more of the same. After stopping Coach Downs to open the second half, Coach Revels took the ball with 24 minutes left in the game and put on an Electric Football exhibition that could have lit up the Pittsburgh sky in an evening blackout. In a drive that lasted more than a quarter and a half, Coach Revels ate up nearly the entire game clock utilizing a crushing ground game that culminated in a three yard touchdown run. The drive lasted so long, in fact, that Coach Downs was left with only a minute on the clock and two timeouts on the referee's score sheet.

Over the course of the entire weekend, and especially in the Super Bowl game, it was a combination of a dogged offense, a nearly impenetrable defense and awesome special teams play that helped Coach Revels' Kansas City Chiefs defeat opponent after opponent. The final score in the Super Bowl, Chiefs-14—St. Louis Rams-0, gave the Michigan native his first (but probably not last) Miggle Super Bowl title. ■

ROB DALMASSE NAMED 2005 EFL COACH OF THE YEAR IN HIS HOMETOWN

One could imagine the elation on the face of Edgewood, PA's Rob Dalmasse when his name was announced at this year's Miggle Convention as the winner of the 2005 EFL Coach of the Year Award.

The honor obviously was exciting, but the experience was particularly momentous because Rob's wife, Bonnie, and other family members, fellow coaches in the Pittsburgh Electric Football League and Rick Giugliano from the Pittsburgh Steelers were also present at the Embassy Suites Hotel in his hometown of Pittsburgh.

"It was a great privilege and a rather humbling experience to receive the award in the presence of all the talented Electric Football coaches from around the nation," Rob told PLUGGED IN!. "The fact that it happened in Pittsburgh made it all the more special."

When Rob, 42, a lab technician in the chemistry department at Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, got the word last year that the 11th Annual Official Electric Football Super Bowl & Convention would take place in Pittsburgh, he sprang right into action. While others might have celebrated and boasted that the Convention was coming to their hometown, Rob volunteered to do some advance scouting of the host venue. Michael and Delayne Landsman eagerly took him up on his offer, so Rob visited the Embassy Suites Hotel, spoke with management and took lots of photos—which he forwarded to the Landsmans and Ira H. Silverman, Convention coordinator.

"The ambassadorial work Rob has done for Electric Football throughout the Pittsburgh area, along with the relationships he has built with his hometown media and the Steelers," noted EFL Commissioner Michael Landsman, "were major reasons why we selected the Steel City to host this year's Convention. Rob's contributions to the game were many in 2004, and he was a most deserving Coach of the Year honoree."

Yes, 2004 was a benchmark year for Electric Football in Pittsburgh—and for Rob Dalmasse.

First, the Pittsburgh Steelers organization—for the third consecutive year—invited the Pittsburgh EFL (which consists primarily of PhD students in Carnegie Mellon's chemistry department) to host an EFL event at their Annual Fan Blitz/College Draft Day. Hordes of old and new Electric Football fans crowded around the Pittsburgh EFL booth to see demonstrations of the game, participate in clinics and challenge the league coaches.

"As always, it was an incredible experience being a part of the Steelers family and of NFL Draft Day," Rob commented. "Who knew that Electric Football could take us to such wonderful places?"

Another destination that Electric Football made possible for Rob and his fellow coaches was Cleveland, OH, where they were invited to assist in the creation and production of an Electric Football commercial shoot for Rally's Hamburgers.

"That experience was educational and fun," said Rob, "although I learned never to check into a Cleveland hotel at 2 a.m. wearing a Pittsburgh Steelers cap!"

Completing the praises to Rob Dalmasse was Delayne Landsman, the Commissioner's wife and a member of the Award Selection Committee. "Rob's passion for Electric Football, his great attitude and his never-ending eagerness to always go the 'extra mile' made him the logical choice for 2005 EFL Coach of the Year. He is a true leader and innovator, serious, but fun-loving, at the same time."

Rob would like to send a "shout out" to John and Shawna Evans of Edgewood, PA, for sharing their breathtaking Heinz Field Stadium replica model with all Convention attendees. "They built the stadium at home and set it up near the Convention entrance," Rob stated, "and it was a HUGE hit with everyone in the crowd!"

2005 EFL BREAKTHROUGH COACH OF THE YEAR: RAIDERMAN

Selecting the 2005 Breakthrough Coach of the Year was not a difficult decision for EFL Commissioner Michael Landsman and his wife, Delayne.

According to the award's description, the Breakthrough Coach of the Year is an "individual whose contributions and dedication to the game of Electric Football—along with his/her playing ability, creativity and enthusiasm—had most risen from the 'local' level to the national 'stage' in the previous 12 months," according to the Landsmans.

Paul Bartels, (a.k.a. "Raiderman") of Dover, PA, fits that description perfectly. While he has been one of the country's most outstanding coaches over the past several years, as well as an outspoken advocate for the game, it was really not until 2004 when his accomplishments and contributions to the hobby as a whole earned him role model status among both children and adults.

"While Raiderman has been known around the country for years for his Electric Football involvement," Delayne Landsman told PLUGGED IN!, "it wasn't until last year, when he really made a huge commitment and effort to help unite and grow the EFL community, that his efforts made a true impact on the hobby. Raiderman was clearly the number one candidate for this award."

Not surprisingly, Paul's wife, Corbyn, and his beautiful children, Karmyn, three years old, Mya, one, and newborn son, Eli, are his biggest fans and supporters. A highly successful architectural designer, Raiderman was announced as the winner of the 2005 Breakthrough Coach of the Year at the Welcome Reception & Dinner at the 2005 EFL Convention in Pittsburgh on January 28.

"I am flattered to share the same title as Tom Ruesink, who won last year," Raiderman told PLUGGED IN! shortly after the Convention. "Also, I'm so glad that my good friend, Mike Pratt, was the first ever Good Vibrations Award winner this year. The 2005 Convention was really exciting for everyone."

Raiderman battles daughter Karmyn for Electric Football supremacy in the Bartels household.

Raiderman has incorporated Electric Football into other parts of his life as well. "I use it to reach out to kids who don't have a mentor or a role model. I get them involved in the game, and before too long they become pretty successful. Electric Football has been a method to draw in youngsters to a hobby that's exciting and promotes teamwork and dedication."

Raiderman assists children by creating teams for them to use, including custom painting names, numbers, chinstraps and facemasks for 26-30 man rosters. He assembles between six and 10 teams a year for youngsters to use in the Harrisburg League, which obviously consumes a great deal of this time.

"Once in a while I have to put the brushes down and work on the bases for some teams too," Raiderman said. "But most of my time is spent creating the teams. My games—and all of my Electric Football belongings—are located in my den, far away from my kids!"

There were other electrifying moments for Raiderman throughout the course of 2004, one of which being his heavy involvement along with Mike Pratt and others, in the launch of the National EF League.

"The highlight of the year for me, however, was seeing my 'little brother,' Gabe (through the Big Brother program), win our College League in Harrisburg. He was only 13 at the time, and he defeated some great coaches."

Obviously, Paul Bartels' Little Brother made a major breakthrough in his EFL coaching in 2004. And the man behind this young man—Paul "Raiderman" Bartels—was such a major force in Electric Football last year that he was named Breakthrough Coach of the Year.

Raiderman can be reached via email at: raiderman110@hotmail.com. ■

OUR FAVORITE ELECTRIC FOOTBALL Memories!

Over the past decade of publishing PLUGGED IN!, Miggle has discovered that one of the most popular features of all time has been our "Memories" articles in which coaches and fans around the country share their most cherished reminiscences about our hobby. Here are several new ones from our collection:

FROM MIKE PATTON, CLEVELAND:

Back in 1998, I was working for the Cleveland Browns Trust. Our security staff gave me a heads up that there would be visitors in the building over the weekend, some sort of toy football convention. Having majored in Electric Football instead of class work in school, I decided that after work I'd check in on this convention.

I was amazed to see so many exhibitors and fans. I was blown away with how far the hobby had come and that there were still people playing. I instantly began regretting having retired when my own kids came along. I felt like an adult who long ago gave up on Santa Claus only to find myself transported to the North Pole to Santa's Toy Shop. I never imagined so much Electric Football product and interest.

A special thanks to the Landsmans for preserving and rekindling our youth.

FROM MATT WAVRA, KOKOMO, IN:

I was so excited to play in my first Miggle tournament in South Bend, IN, a few snowy winters ago. I was thrilled that it was only two hours north of Kokomo, my hometown. I spent several days before preparing: Scripting plays, practicing my passing, kicking, etc. I came in feeling like my Colts could play with anybody, especially since the teams and bases were to be used right out of the bag.

After all the excitement from touring the College Football Hall of Fame, I was really sweating because I was about to play the first round game against the Raiders—and this guy really looked and acted like a Raiders fan: big, black, bald and brewing!

He ran 4 plays and made about 7 yards. I ran 3 plays for a sum total of 2 yards. Then, on 4th down, I hit Marvin Harrison down the middle—and he was pointed straight ahead, ready to dive a few yards ahead to victory, with no Raiders close enough to trip him up. I excitedly walked around the board. All I needed to do was turn the switch on while a very disgusted Raiders fan looked on.

Then it happened: my foot caught the power cord, creating a massive earthquake at the Oakland Coliseum. One look from the Raiders coach told me he wasn't giving me that play. So I ran another, and my first tournament ended in anguish and agony: knocked out in the first round. That's OK, 'cause the next year, the "real" Manning and Co. made it all the way to the AFC Championship Game.

FROM STEVE TEPPER, BELLMORE, NY:

Back in 1965, when I was 14 years old and living in Brooklyn, NY, I used to play Electric Football almost every day with my friends. Then came

Nov. 9 of that year—the day of the Big Blackout on the East Coast. When the lights went out in my home, I ran around the neighborhood to check out if everyone else had lost their electric power, too. When I realized what had happened, I rounded up a couple of my friends for Electric Football games!

Electric Football without electricity? Yep, when you love the game as much as we did, you set up candles on the kitchen table, line up your players on the field and constantly tap, tap, tap the board to simulate the electricity that usually spurs the figures to action. It kept us busy for hours. How many other people have played Electric Football without electricity?

FROM ROB DALMASSE, PITTSBURGH, PA:

In February 2005, my wife Bonnie and I had the opportunity to meet her favorite Steelers player, Jeff Reed, the place-kicker who has been with the team for three seasons. I told him that I was a member of the Pittsburgh EFL and that we had assisted the Steelers with the "Great Moments in Electric Football" vignettes that were shown on the JumboTron in Heinz Field during Steelers games during the 2002 season. He told us that he loved watching them! We were surprised with his response, and Bonnie replied: "We didn't think the players watched those commercials." He smiled and simply said: "We look forward to the timeouts...so we can watch the show on the JumboTron, too." It was a great and memorable time for both of us.

FROM JOE RIVERA, LONG ISLAND, NY:

I was about eight years old, and after a night of begging to go see a Jets football game in person, my pops did the next best thing. After everyone in the house was asleep, he woke me up and told me he had something very special for me to see. It was like Christmas! There was a miniature football field all set up on the dining room table along with every team lined up ready to go! It was his entire collection of Electric Football figures, with my Jets on bases ready to rumble with his NY Football Giants! Needless to say, we were up all night! The P.S. to the story is that every Sunday, my pops asked me to take a trip with him to the market. But one Sunday, we didn't go to the market. I instead found myself walking through a tunnel. All I saw was a lined field with real players on it! We were in Shea Stadium to see the Jets play the Lions! I've been hooked ever since. Aren't dads great? ■

WINNERS OF KIDS ESSAY CONTEST ANNOUNCED

In the Spring and Fall 2004 issues of PLUGGED IN!, we invited youngsters between the ages of eight and 16 to send us essays on their "Favorite Electric Football Experience." We were amazed at the wonderful variety of experiences our young coaches have already had with the game, and how well they were able to express themselves in writing.

The Judging Committee had a difficult time in selecting just one Grand Prize champ and one Runner-Up Prize winner—so we want to congratulate everyone who entered. The Judges' choices are: Grand Prize winner Matthew Cretaro, age nine, from Canastota, NY, who will receive an NFL Portable Electric Football Game from Miggle Toys; and Runner-Up winner Tim Csernica, eight, of Lewisburg, PA, who will be sent a Power Pro Portable Electric Football Game by Miggle Toys.

Here are the highlights of Matt's winning essay: "My most exciting EFL game was when I was playing my dad. The game was Oakland vs. Indianapolis. I was Oakland. The score was tied 7-7 and it was the fourth quarter. I just kept running with (Ken) Stabler because of his top-notch playing. Once dad had seven men on the line and I surprisingly picked up 10 yards. Stabler was doing great, but it was the last play of the game and I was at the Indianapolis 14, so I chose to kick a field goal. It was good. The 10-7 victory over my dad is my most thrilling EFL experience." ■

Matt Cretaro grins upon learning he's won a big prize from Miggle Toys.

BASES, BASES AND MORE BASES!!!

We decided to repeat this page and add a testimonial on the "performance" of these new ProLine Bases from Glenn Hardaway a.k.a. GreenBayGlenn and a real EFL enthusiast. Here's what Glenn had to say on Miggle's Chat Board—I can honestly say that every version of the new ProLine bases performs great and respond very well to minor tweaking. I heartily recommend them, so if anyone was waiting to get some feedback before purchasing, here it is. There are a few more I'll be tweaking (or not!) for the upcoming LSU-Dallas game in my solitaire league, but no need to hog up any more space on this chat board. There is plenty enough here to let anyone see that these bases are a great buy! Get as many as you can is all I have to say! No, I have not been paid for this endorsement! These bases really are the best thing to come along in the history of this hobby and the packaging is unbelievable. Each base is packed safely in its own compartment and you can take off the plastic case they come in to use as storage containers! Even though they are going to make a new set of the TTC'S, go ahead and get these because as of now they are the strongest of all my strong bases, and I've got some good ones! Just put an ITZ dial in them and snap it on tightly so that it fits snug over the stub of the base and you will be very happy with the performance. Again, thanks to all who had a hand in making these spectacular bases! I love 'em! We too, want to "thank" Mark and Bill Klingbeil and Mike Pratt again for their unending guidance.

PROLINE Strong Bases With A Straight Front

These bases are designed to be your offensive linemen, run-stuffing defensive linemen, blocking fullbacks and tight ends, and even outside linebackers and cornerbacks. Their strength, combined with an even flatter front traditional base, allows them to grab an opponent and hold them as they move down the field!

PROLINE Fast Bases With A Straight Front

These bases are designed with thin prongs to increase their speed. When their speed is combined with the straight front, you have GREAT cornerbacks, blitzing linebackers, roll-out quarterbacks, and "bruising" as well as "sweeping" halfbacks!

PROLINE Strong Bases With A Rounded Front

Imagine your defensive linemen doing a swim move outside the tackle, or your defensive tackle putting the pressure on the quarterback with a great rip move...

Now, these bases can combine speed, strength, and the ability to get off blocks as the base simply doesn't stay blocked for very long. Don't worry offense—these bases will double as your pass-catching tight ends and possession receivers.

PROLINE Fast Bases With A Rounded Front

Speed can change the scoreboard and that is what these bases offer!

With these special PROLINE fast bases (with the rounded front) your receivers will not stay locked at the line of scrimmage! The rounded front assures that they will release and go down field. To combat that certainty, line up one of these bases as your pass rush specialist and watch him go right around the offensive linemen and put pressure on your QB.

NOW, because of Miggle's "Position Programmed" PROLINE BASES, you are in control of "basing" your team! You design the strategy and decide which base is the best fit for each position. Then base your team according to your strategy with each base programmed for the position you want it to play. Remember, the more you control the action, the better the game gets!

DEFINITIONS:

Bumper-Zone:

Because of the law of physics, the new technology in each PROLINE BASE improves base strength and here is how it works. With the thinner front on the base, as it hits any other base, it stores the energy and stops the forward thrust of the other base. This releases energy and pushes the other base backwards.

Position Programmed:

There are 12 varieties of PROLINE BASES, giving each coach the ability to find exactly the type of base already programmed for every possible position. So, if a coach wants a strong base that can slide off linemen and can also turn in circles, the base that is already programmed to do that is the PROLINE Rounded Front TTC Base. Whatever your coaching needs, we have a base that will work for you!

TTC Base:

Total Team Control Base has a directional wheel.

Tweaking:

Gently adjusting the prongs to modify the use of the base.
